

CHARDONNAY 2005
RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

In 2001 we established the attributes of our Russian River Valley Chardonnay in producing a wine which exhibits perfumed hints of jasmine and citrus as well as notes of Asian pear, dried pineapple and toasty vanilla. We have improved upon this style over the subsequent vintages increasing the expression of minerality and overall concentration. The 2005 vintage continues in this tradition offering beautiful fruit character balanced by a delicate acidity. ($38/bottle)

CHARDONNAY 2005
LAUGHLIN FAMILY VINEYARD
RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

We have been working with the Laughlin Family Vineyard since 2001; in fact, our first Chardonnay was produced exclusively from these grapes. As we have assiduously worked with the owners to refine and update this wonderfully old vineyard, we have been rewarded with a superbly unique Chardonnay. A full bouquet of aromas including fresh lychee fruit, mandarin orange, mangosteen, and fruit blossoms carry from the intriguing nose to the lengthy tangerine oil finish. ($44/bottle)

CHARDONNAY 2005
CHARLES HEINTZ VINEYARD
SONOMA COAST

When we discovered the Charles Heintz Vineyard we knew we had found a site that matched our philosophy: old vines, cool climate, and the potential to make a wine that would reflect a unique vineyard and growing region. The heady nose of dried apricot and orange zest, as well as a gravelly minerality separate this wine from its L'Angevin counterparts. The 2005 offers a seamless mouthfeel, from delicious entry, to a rich palate, completed by a long and lingering finish. ($55/bottle)

PINOT NOIR 2005
RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

We have thoroughly enjoyed producing Chardonnays from different appellations and vineyards, allowing the wines to be a reflection of their growing site as presented through our artisan winemaking. In 2005, we crafted two Pinot Noirs: this selection from the Russian River Valley has a more traditional and feminine character when compared to our Sonoma Coast offering. Fresh black cherry, bergamot, mint, and tea leaves highlight the refined aroma profile. This wine is delicately smooth in the mouth and supplies plenty of beautiful fruit from start to finish. ($44/bottle)

PINOT NOIR 2005
SONOMA STAGE VINEYARD
SONOMA COAST

The 2005 Sonoma Coast Pinot Noir from the Hyde Family's Sonoma Stage Vineyard is our second vintage of Pinot from this site. The vineyard lies in a very cool area with significant marine influence providing relatively low average temperatures and a great deal of cloud cover. The marginal climate, small berry size, and clonal blend (Calera and Swan Clone) present us with an incredibly interesting Pinot Noir with many layers. As with the 2004, we see the signature intense wild strawberry and raspberry as well as floral hints, and smoky notes of tar and earth. The palate has ample weight balanced by a pleasing natural acidity, and finishes with silky tannins and smooth texture. ($58/bottle)
